AT A GLANCE

Growth recovered, but the profit story is more uneven

2017 closed with stronger sales and profit than the 2015 dip, but the margin remains a sharper question than scale alone.

The dashboard says recovery. The mix says discipline.

SALES + PROFIT · 2014–2017

Sales and profit both rebounded after the 2015 dip

2015 was the trough. By 2017, both sales and profit had closed above the 2014 baseline.

DISCOUNT VS PROFIT

Discounting is not translating cleanly into profit

Profit varies materially at similar discount levels. Machines and Bookcases are negative while Copiers and Binders are positive.

Manage discount policy by product, not broadly.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Three actions follow directly from the dashboard

The next moves are product-level and profit-led.

01

Repair Furniture economics

Review pricing, discounting, and cost-to-serve before expanding volume.

02

Protect profitable winners

Lean into Office Supplies and Technology, especially the leading profit products.

03

Instrument discount decisions

Set product-level guardrails and monitor profit impact, not sales lift alone.
